February 2021 Lectures: Black History Month

Join us in celebrating Black History Month with these exciting lectures!

- x Black Composers: Our Time to Listen with Daniel Newman-Lessler
 - o Saturday, February 6 at 10am (PST)
 - o This lecture will include a brief survey of the lives and music of Black composers from around the world, from the 18th century to new music being written by today's living composers. Daniel graduated cum laude from University of Southern California with an MM in Sacred Music and BM in Piano Performance. He is currently studying at Cal Arts as a Lilian Disney Scholar in the MFA Performer-Composer program.
- x Paul Williams: Architect to the Stars with Eleanor Schrader
 - o Saturday, February 13 at 10am (PST)
 - o This lecture explores and abundantly illustrates the architectural legacy left by Williams and discusses the inspirational contributions he made to each city his designs enriched. Eleanor is an award-winning educator, lecturer, and author who lectures worldwide on art and architectural history and leads art and architecture tours throughout the world.

Registration is now open! For comprehensive lecture descriptions and registration information, go to our Lecture Series page.

Spring Lectures and the Spring Session 2021

Mark your calendars! In March, between sessions, we will host several stand-alone lectures. The Fifty and Better Spring Session will take place April 5 - May 14.

Registration for the new courses will open March 2nd. More details will be sent in the coming weeks!

FAB Student Profiles:

Sisters Kathy and Carol Denny

Carol (pictured on the left) lives in Virginia, outside of D.C. and heard about FAB through her sister, Kathy! Carol has enjoyed Dr. Parsons's courses, and Cary Ginell's lecture on Neil Diamond. Carol likes that FAB is online and easy to use. Learning is fun, she says, especially when there are no tests! A fun fact about Carol is that she is an animal lover, especially of dogs and horses.

Kathy (pictured on the right) lives in Montclair, New Jersey, which is about 12 miles from New York City. Kathy's son and his family live in Thousand Oaks, and when there's not a pandemic, she escapes the New Jersey winter and spends time in California. Kathy's first two classes were with Katherine Zoraster and David Parsons, and both hold a special place in her heart. FAB started offering virtual courses when the pandemic lock-downs began, and it was a life changer for her. A fun fact about Kathy: she and her family lived in Japan during her high school years, and she had 12 in her graduating class. A few weeks ago, they met on Zoom to celebrate their 40th reunion!
