

In August, Christine Maasdam will unpack propaganda art; Dr. Amy Gusick will discuss the Southern California Bight and the impact of periods of climatic change; Dr. Asya Pereltsvaig will examine if Neanderthals had language; Arvind Grewal will talk about aging, preventative medicine and wellness; Katherine Zoraster will delve into the history and the exhibits of "Luna Luna;" Sam and Candy Caponegro will explore dubbing in musicals; Josh Antonuccio will depict how artificial intelligence is reshaping music; Dave Radlauer will discuss the evolution of swing music from 1930-1950; Scott Jones will examine slavery in ancient Rome; Eleanor Schrader will talk about the generations of artists who have depicted felines in their work; and Dr. Cliff Wilcox will delve into the origin and representation of Harold Arlen and Yip Harburg's song "Over the Rainbow."

Nearly half of the lectures . Lectures are $10 each, or bundle 10 lectures across the summer for $75.

are open to all, regardless of age. Registration is open.

Fifty and Better is offering a tour of Cal Lutheran's Thousand Oaks campus on Tuesday, August 6 at 10am. This walking tour will take students around the beautiful campus while they hear the history of the campus' evolution. This tour will be followed by a light lunch.

FAB was designed to offer university level-courses with no tests or homework taught by experts in the field, and to host social engagement activities for individuals 50 years of age and older. When COVID-19 erupted and the first-ever offering of in-person courses had to be postponed indefinitely, Cal Lu-

